

You'll never Change

Samantha Fish

Don't promise me nothing, you can't stick to your word
Don't blame me for something that you claim that you had heard
Don't leave me alone while you run around in the street
Oh, it's a pity and a shame that you'll never change

[?] a man if he never wants to make romance
What do I need with a man if I only get to see him by chance?
These lonely nights are about to drive me insane
Oh, it's a pity and a shame, baby you'll never change

It was so nice

I remember when it started
I never thought that you could ever change
'Cause it [?], let him sad and brokenhearted

I wish you'll leave me 'fore I go insane
You never take me in your arms
You never had nothing nice to say
You walk around looking mean and [?] everyday
Even if [?] whenever I call [?]
Oh, it's a pity and a shame that you'll never change

Oh, never, never, never, never
Woah, you'll never change
