

Right Now

Samara Cyn

Touch me in places your hands won't reach
Mold me in moments your mind can't read
And you say how long can we keep this up
With no one to know what we've kept for us
Don't rush the mood we can live in it
Writing no rules, we just living it
Can't you just love me for right now
Can't you just hold me for right now
We can be lovely right now
Let it be holy for right now
Don't rush no mood we can live in it
Writing no rules we just living it
Can't you just love me for right now
We can be lovely for right now
Can't you just love me for right now
We can be lovely for right now

Divine treasure; find something better, deeper connection
Been in hiding; learned my lesson trying to fight the lessons
People come and go, I ain't mad, each one a blessing
Even those that made me question who they testing but Then it's you and you the bomb, baby, you the bestest
And from the jump walking up, I could tell you a message
Likely not forever but for now ain't this refreshing
I mean like who the fuck are we to go and protest it
Man down! Young but we grown
Two count! Need the brain and the bone
Hit a little different when you add a little soul
End up where you supposed to if you following the road
We set the tone, no need to walk alone
Your company is welcomed, I been out here on my own
If we headed somewhere different, wish you luck for when you go
But for now, shit I think we on a roll so please

Touch me in places your hands won't reach
Mold me in moments your mind can't read
And you say how long can we keep this up
With no one to know what we've kept for us
Don't rush the mood we can live in it
Writing no rules, we just living it
Can't you just love me for right now
Can't you just hold me for right now
We can be lovely right now
Let it be holy for right now
Don't rush no mood we can live in it
Writing no rules we just living it
Can't you just love me for right now
We can be lovely for right now
Can't you just love me for right now
We can be lovely for right now
