Shut Down

Samiam

Every time you crawl out of that pit
It all seems too extreme for you
You search for signs of life
Only to find you're out of range

All the friends who used to call
Gave up long ago, you know
You pushed them all away
You pushed them all away
When you shut down
When you shut down
When you shut down

Why don't you ever listen to the records on the shelf
Collecting dust with the trophies from the games you used to play
Staring at the phone and scrolling endlessly
I don't know what you hope to see
What do you hope to see
When you shut down
When you shut down
When you shut down

Don't come to me with your excuses
You're gonna be dead before you die
You're gonna fall empty and useless
Under the sky dead before you die

Every time you crawl out of your pit
It all seems so obscene
In your search for signs of life you find
Now you're on your own

The friends you used to call
Where did they go?
You pushed them all away
You pushed them all away
When you shut down
When you shut down
When you shut down

Don't come to me with your excuses
You're gonna be dead before you die
You're gonna fall empty and useless
Under the sky dead before you die
Dead before you die
Dead before you die
