

Right Here, Right Now

San Holo

Wish there was time to change your mind
You're next to me but out of sight
Eyes on the clock all night and day
Yeah, just listen to my words today
Hear me out when I say

If you could only be right here right now
If you could only feel right here right now
If you could only be right here right now

If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now

Don't wanna waste your precious time
No sleep when you're running behind
You say goodbye and run away
Yeah, wish I could stop the time today
Hear me out when I say

If you could only be right here right now
If you could only feel right here right now
If you could only be right here right now

If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now

Wish there was time to change your mind
You're next to me but out of sight, sight
Wish there was time to change your mind
You're next to me but out of sight, sight, sight

If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now

If you could only be right here right now
If you could only be right here right now
