

Independence

Santa Hates You

we want the future to be ours we don't want your empty words we won't let you sleep if you don't let us dream we declare our independence from your cunning regime we always live and love like it's the end of the world we'd rather be honest than loyal and square we will never be like you

from your world view

this is our declaration:
we have the right to be free we are so sick of being part of your killing machine

we progress while you regress shut up and suck less you turned your whole existence into a life sentence
this is the declaration of our independence

this is our declaration:
