The rocking horse came

From an old oak tree

Just missed the house

When it was hit by lightning

My daddy painted that horse

A midnight blue

Shooting stars and silver horseshoes

And it was something magic out of something frightening

That's how I live my life I take it as it comes And I find the hidden love When it's pouring down on me In my mind I see The rocking horse inside the tree A broken heart Means deeper feelings A thorn in the flesh Means room for healing Oh salt in your tears Can open your eyes Wounded years Make you realize It's just something magic out of something frightening (2x)

Things aren't always as they seem Take the nightmare from my dreams

That's how I live my life
I take it as it comes
And I find the hidden love
When it's pouring down on me
In my mind I see
The rocking horse inside the tree
A broken heart
Means deeper feelings
A thorn in the flesh
Means room for healing
Oh salt in your tears
Can open your eyes
Wounded years
Make you realize
It's just something magic out of something frightening
