

Break My Heart

Sara Ramirez

I'm so tired of being happy, baby
Won't you come and break my heart.
Sick of you and me always laughing,
Baby won't you come and break my heart.

I try walking the streets so lonely,
I pretend there's no where to go.
I don't want you to come and save me,
I just want to be left alone.

Oh, don't say you love me,
Oh, don't say you love me.

Take you giving me kisses back love,
Take you trying to make it right.
Go away and just let me drown now,
Bring the rain for just one night.

I need something to make me miss you,
I need somewhere to go from here.
Oh I need something to get over,
Before I'm over you my dear.

Oh, don't say you love me.
Oh, don't say you love me.

Toss me over the edge.
I want me falling into the setting sun.
Back to the days when I almost lost you,
Watch me run.

Oh, don't say you love me.
Oh, don't say you love me.

I'm so tired of being happy,
Baby won't you come and break my heart.
Sick of you and me always laughing,
Baby won't you come and break my heart.

Baby won't you come break my heart.
Baby won't you come break my heart.
Baby won't you come break my heart.
