

Mourn The Living

Sarah Barrios

Let's just pretend I didn't fuck you over
Like you never said you didn't need the closure
We're better off friends, yeah, it's been nice to know you
Let's just pretend like all that didn't happen like it did

Now you're usin' my name to show the world your pain
You should know I don't blame you for it
Blame you for it, blame you for it
Fallin' out of love hurts, but losin' a friend is worse
And there's nothing I could say that'll change a thing, a thing

You can't mourn the living, would it make a difference?
Even if I ripped my heart out of my chest
And tried to speak, oh, I don't think you'd listen
'Cause you're not under missin' the part of me
That was part of you, I wish it wasn't true
Apologies are overdue

So that's how it is, love is the greatest, have some Callin' it quits, I guess it was meant to happen
I talked to your dad, he said you were doin' better
So that's how it is and how it always will be

Now you're usin' my name to show the world your pain
You should know I don't blame you for it
Blame you for it, blame you for it
Fallin' out of love hurts, but losin' a friend is worse
And there's nothing I could say that'll change a thing, a thing

You can't mourn the living, would it make a difference?
Even if I ripped my heart out of my chest
And tried to speak, oh, I don't think you'd listen
'Cause you're not under missin' the part of me
That was part of you, I wish it wasn't true
Apologies are overdue

I wish it wasn't true, apologies are overdue
I wish it wasn't true, apologies are overdue
