

An Arrow

Sarah Blasko

I am just like an arrow
Heading straight for a destiny
And no one and nothing can take that away from me
It's something that defies what the eye can see

Nothing and no one is as real
As pure and as dark as a dream

I was just like a sailor
Heading out to uncharted seas
I thought that the limit was the horizon
Discovered there was more than the eye could see

Nothing and no one is as real
As pure and as dark as a dream
And nothing, no thing lasts forever
And I take heart in all that I cannot see

I was just like an arrow
Heading straight for a destiny
Then I met you and the world opened up in front of me
Revealing there was more than the eye could see...