

Words Will Never Do

Sarah Close

I could read a book of Shakespeare, listen to Abbey Road
Watch all the colors run in a painting by Van Gogh
And it still wouldn't be half as beautiful
As the way you make me feel
Could watch a sunrise in Hawaii or a sunset in Rome
I could hike up Mount Everest for that breathtaking show
And it still wouldn't be half as beautiful
As the way you make me feel

Yeah, I swear, rain falling in London
Doesn't fall like I fall for you
I've been wondering how to tell you
But words will never do

I could learn to speak "I love you" in every language, not my own
Plant you a forest with every flower ever known
But it still wouldn't be half as beautiful
As the way you make me feel

Yeah, I swear, rain falling in London
Doesn't fall like I fall for you
I've been wondering how to tell you
But words will never do, no

'Cause they still wouldn't be half as beautiful
As the way you make me feel
