

Daphnes

Sarah Cothran

Let's run away
To the garden filled with Daphnes
Sip the poison don't it taste so sweet
Then it turns on you like everything

Run so fast to the light that you're seeing
Heart beats fast when it starts disappearing
Hear a voice so you follow along
Hear a noise how could this go wrong
Can't even look in the mirror
Cause then I'll see what I'm ashamed of clearer
My life is not complete
Lord have mercy

Walking through the corridor
Each regret behind another door
Turn the key that opens up the past
Should've known that this would never last

Run so fast to the light that you're seeing
Heart beats fast when it starts disappearing
Hear a voice so you follow along
Hear a noise how could this go wrong
Can't even look in the mirror
Cause then I'll see what I'm ashamed of clearer
My life is not complete
Lord have mercy

When I have a vision of an apparition standing over me
Of the ideal person the perfect version of who I should be
But the expectations in everything is so out of reach
And when the fire becomes dimmer and all that's left is dead embers
And I just need to leave

So I run away to the garden filled with Daphnes
Sip the poison don't it taste so sweet then it turns on you like everything

Run so fast to the light that you're seeing
Heart beats fast when it starts disappearing
Hear a voice so you follow along
Hear a noise how could this go wrong
Can't even look in the mirror
Cause then I'll see what I'm ashamed of clearer
My life is not complete
Lord have mercy
