

A Little Bit of Rain

Sarah Darling

She never meant for things to go this far
She's putting on her makeup in the kitchen in the dark
The man in all the pictures is sleeping upstairs
She wonders if he caught her would he even care
She's driving to the hotel, and she turns her wipers on

What starts out as a little bit of rain
Can turn into a hurricane
Much stronger than you'd ever thought it be
Get swept up in the aftermath
Before you know it you can't go back
In a minute your whole world could change
From a little bit of rain

Three years, two kids, and one house down the road
She tried to end it many times but he won't let her go
The stakes are so much higher now than when they started out
But these days the sun seems to stay behind the clouds

What starts out as a little bit of rain
Can turn into a hurricane
Much stronger than you'd ever thought it be
Get swept up in the aftermath
Before you know it you can't go back
In a minute your whole world could change
From a little bit of rain
From a little bit of rain

You could sell your soul, you could lose control
Just a little at a time
When the storm rolls through
No you can't undo the damage left behind

What starts out as a little bit of rain
Can turn into a hurricane
Much stronger than you'd ever thought it be
Get swept up in the aftermath
Before you know it you can't go back
In a minute your whole world could change
With a little bit of rain

From a little bit of rain
From a little bit of rain