

Talk About the Weather

Sarah Darling

I know this is a small town
And I haven't been back in a long time now
Back to the scene of the showdown
Shoulda known I'd run into you somehow

It's too late
You walked your way
And I walked mine
People change
Can't stay the same
We had our place in time

After all these years together
We're like strangers in the room
I use to think I knew you better
Than I know myself, but now
We just talk about the weather
We just talk about the weather

If you asked me the question
I would say I'm happy and I'm married now
I'm different person
I found forever in a little blue house

It's too late
You walked your way
And I walked mine

After all those years together
We're like strangers in the room
I use to think I knew you better
Than I know myself, but now
We just talk about the weather
We just talk about the weather

There no one here to blame
I feel so empty where there use to be a flame
And I can tell we've really changed
Cause there's nothing left to say

We just talk about the weather
Like two strangers on the street
I use to think that our storm
Would last forever, but now
We just talk about the weather
We just talk about the weather
We just talk about the weather
We just talk about the weather
