

I saw you in your green shirt yesterday
Now I'm walking around figuring out
How to act naturally
You're in my headspace
But I don't want space between us
Now we're stuck in between
You're looking at me
Like you might say something
But don't say anything
That you don't mean even though it feels too good to Be true I barely know you
But I'm still new to feeling, falling
There's no stopping what I do

You don't want serious
And neither do I
So if it's truly meaningless
Then why are you on my mind?
When it's not serious
What we agreed to do
I think you're scared of them seeing us the way that I want them to

I saw you in your green shirt yesterday
I turn to the right I look in your eyes
Before I realize that I almost said hello
To the wrong guy
It's 11 you write, "Come over and find
Your way to my window tonight"
I, I wanna see you, I want to
But now I'm on your fire escape I stay
But I know the longer I say I'll walk away
The more I think of you and I
It feels so right I've lost my mind

You don't want serious
And neither do I
So if it's truly meaningless
Then why are you on my mind?
When it's not serious
What we agreed to do
I think you're scared of them seeing us the way that I want them to

Oh

Oh