

Oh the wave it comes again and it takes over me
So dependent on the chemical to settle in
Once again I hope to feel a glimpse of something

And the way it takes apart my soul every week
Wading through the depths of dark just for a taste of relief
There is light ahead of me
There is light ahead there has to be

Oh pretty pretty baby
All you do is make me cry
Oh how I feel so crazy
When you start to ease my mind
Oh life would be so easy
Oh life would be sublime
If I could forget you baby
If I did not need your kind

Don't you get it?
Everything must eventually change
Even suffering forever cannot stop the days
I will never be the same
(I will never be!)

Oh the days they'll make you out
To be nothing but insane
Running through the portal
To live is to be unchained
You could never know what I became
The moments fleeting
Why not live despite the rain?

Oh pretty pretty baby
All you do is sit and cry
Oh how I feel so crazy
When you start to ease my mind
Oh life would be so easy
Oh life would be sublime
If I could forget you baby
If I did not need your kind