

Sleep

Sarah Klang

When I see you in the middle of the night in a crowded room
God, I swear on everything I love, you look so blue
You saw me in the summer night, you and I are so much alike
You took my hand and I walked with you

Oh, don't you say any last words now
You close my front door
Oh, I will pretend that I'm sleeping
When you are leaving
And don't you say any last words now
You close my front door
Oh, I will pretend that I'm sleeping
Baby, when you are leaving me
You are leaving me

Can you feel all the stars
Are pushing down on earth now?
And can you hear the black hole
How it speaks to me softly, softly?

And I can see you standing over there with her
And I know deep down you don't want it at all
Tell me with your eyes, you don't want it at all

Don't you say any last words now
You close my front door
Oh, I will pretend that I'm sleeping
When you are leaving
And don't you say any last words now
You close my front door
I will pretend that I'm sleeping
Baby, when you are leaving

Don't you say any last words now
You close my front door
Oh, I will pretend that I'm sleeping
When you are leaving
And don't you say any last words now
You close my front door
Oh, I will pretend that I'm sleeping
Baby, when you are leaving me

You are leaving me
When you're leaving me
When you're leaving me