

Intermezzo

Sarah Vaughan

Like the dream you dream tonight
That fades from sight when darkness disappears
Maybe you will vanish to the moment when tomorrow's dawn appear

So my love, while stars above
In heaven blue are softly glimmering, I'd dream of you
And I live in the glory of your love

When I see the shadows falling
On a purple summer evening
Then it's when I hear you calling across the lonely years

Oh, how well I still remember well
Another summer evening
One that started out in splendor and end in tears

Like the dream you dream tonight
That fades from sight when darkness disappears
Maybe you will vanish to the moment when tomorrow's dawn appear

So my love, while stars above
In heaven blue are softly glimmering, I'd dream of you
And I live in the glory of your love