

Fracture

Sarah

you scribble down obscure words and call it poetry
another f*cked up man trying to escape reality an actor, a writer, a lover in love with no one
now I don't think you know I'm hurting
worse than it shows
I knew I loved you from the start
you are the fracture
you are the fracture
you are the fracture in my broken heart you've painted many pictures of a road that went nowhere I can tell she was beautiful you are everything you pretend to be an actor, a liar, a lover who's not in love with me

now I don't think you know I'm hurting
worse than it shows
I knew I loved you from the start
you are the fracture
you are the fracture
you are the fracture in my broken heart
you are everything you pretend to be the person I've grown to hate the one who loves the rain the one who's never wept I wish we never met
you are everything you pretend to be
an actor, a writer, a lover
the man who touched me the man who taught me how to cry