

Loyalty

Sasha Keable

Proofed yourself to be the culprit
The distance I felt from myself
You made me question things that I've always known for sure
All I needed was your help

There I remained, defending your name, about to lose bit of patience
This is my life, managed right, I take you get complacent
You should have gone
You never called

Cause you don't see all the damage done
Not sure the game that you think you've won
You left me nowhere else to run
You preach loyalty but you weren't loyal to me
Aaaah

[?] stained glass windows
You craft your words to keep me closer
Admit the things you say were only there for show
A pretty picture for us both

Where were you then
You only care when it was at your convenience
Just for the check, how quick you forget, when I was at my weakest
You should have called
You never call

Cause you don't see all the damage done
Not sure the game that you think you've won
You left me nowhere else to run
You preach loyalty but you weren't loyal to me
Aaaah

Just know that I didn't say I was happy
I stayed 'cause I'm true to my word
Aaaah

Cause you don't see all the damage done
Not sure the game that you think you've won
You left me nowhere else to run
You preach loyalty but you weren't loyal to me

Cause you don't see all the damage done
Not sure the game that you think you've won
You left me nowhere else to run
You preach loyalty but you weren't loyal to me

Loyal to me
Loyal to me (yeah)
Loyal to me (no, no)
