

Different Me

Sasha

How many times, did you think you knew the answer and how many times - did the answer prove you wrong.
But you're doin' fine - as long as you find someone To put the blame on!

You say it's fate - but I say that it's unwritten It's never too late - to open up your eyes
When love conquers hate - You wanna be the first in line You'd better get yourself a ticket in time!

Does it really make a difference,
If what I say is what I do
Or should I better keep the distance between me and you
If you wanna know the truth
Just take off your shades cause the closer you get - the more you'll see a different me - a different me

How many times - have I found myself mistaken
And how many times - have I try to understand I must have been blind - but now I'm ready to start over and leave it all behind - but I'll keep it on my mind

Does it really make a difference,
If what I say is what I do
Or should I better keep the distance
between me and you
If you wanna know the truth
Just take off your shades
cause the closer you get - the more you'll see
a different me - a different me

But it's worth it, being such a fool, 'cause fools
Don't have to be perfect, no, no

Does it really make a difference,
If what I say is what I do
Or should I better keep the distance
between me and you
If you wanna know the truth
Just take off your shades
cause the closer you get - the more you'll see

Does it really make a difference,
If what I say is what I do?
Should I better keep the distance,
Just belong to you!
If you wanna know the truth,
Just take of your shades!
cause the closer you get - the more you'll see
cause the closer you get - the more you'll see
a different me - a different me