

Looking For You

Satin Jackets

In the light before the dawn
I was thinking I could just carry on Playing my feelings on the radio
Taking a slow ride through the sunrise
We're going back again

Always I want it so I can't let it go
As always I thought it was the end of the road
Now there's somewhere in the sun playing inside my head
And I'm counting every night til I see you again
Even after all this time, still my mind won't forget
Cause I never had love to feel lost like this

I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you

In the night before it's gone
I get a feeling I could linger on Turning all my thoughts waves of blue
Taking a slow ride through the sunrise
We're going back again

Always I want it so I can't let it go
As always I thought it was the end of the road
Now there's somewhere in the sun playing inside my head
And I'm counting every night til I see you again
Even after all this time, still my mind won't forget
Cause I never had a love to feel lost like this

I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you

I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
I've been looking for you
