Do you really wanna feel like this, like this
Do you know what I miss, I miss
Do you really wanna feel like this, like this
Everyday, It's like this everyday
Do you know what I miss, I miss
I miss your face, I miss your name

If this is who I am, then why does it feel like
You never really got to know me
Let me leave, so I can put my mind back at ease
I now know that nothing is as bad as it seems
Even though, the only time I see you now
Is in my dreams
You said you needed me
So why the fuck did you disappear
(You said you needed me, so why the fuck did you disappear)

Do you really wanna feel like this, like this
Everyday, it's like this everyday
Do you know what I miss, I miss
I miss your face, I miss your name
Tell me how you really feel
Tell me if the truth is real
Over time some sense is made
Just let flow and sanity will fade
(Just let it go and sanity will fade)

Well if this is who you are
Then why do you feel like
You never even tried to show me
Let me leave, and I will find a new way to breath
On my own and you won't even recognise me
Even though, every night I see your face (In my dreams)
You said you needed me
So why the fuck did you disappear
You said you needed me

Do you really wanna feel like this, like this
Everyday, it's like this everyday
Do you know what I miss, I miss
I miss your face, I miss your name
Tell me how you really feel
Tell me if the truth is real
Over time some sense is made
Just let it flow and sanity will fade

I know it's easier to run than to come back
I dare you to come back, I dare you to come back
I know it's easier, but why don't you stay
I dare you to stay, I dare you to stay now
I miss your face, I miss your name
I miss the home that I had made on the other side

Do you really wanna feel like this, like this
Everyday, it's like this everyday
And do you know what I miss, I miss
I miss your face, I miss your name

Do you really wanna feel like this, like this
Everyday, it's like this everyday
And do you know what I miss, I miss
I miss your face, I miss your name
