

Racing Home

Saviour

Face this on your own
Never felt like caving
Racing long way home
As you stand still waiting
You're the only one that's holding on
The only one that's waiting
Face this on your own
Never felt like caving

Turn the pace around
On your own
I think I'm better off fading
Just like the sun
Burning out everyday
We grow a little bit colder
Turn the pace around
On your own
You'll get away from here
And I'll watch you bloom

So let me tell you about moving forward
Let me tell you about letting go
And you said
Fuck your regret
Tell me something I don't know
You told me stories about moving mountains
They never happen when you're standing still
Now I'm like
Fuck your mistakes
Tell me something I don't know

Count back from three
To fall straight through my broken hands
It's time face this on your own
Just how did our worlds get so fucking distant?
Take the racing long way home
If we're lifelessly caught in a dance
It's time face this on your own
Then why does leaving feel so fucking different?
Take the racing long way...

Face this on your own
Never felt like caving
Racing long way home

Face this on your own
Never felt like caving
Racing long way home
You're the only one that's holding on

Face the world
Face yourself
Face the pace your heart beats before you forget it

(Face the beat)
Face the pace your heart beats
It bends and breaks
Until we're out of time

A part of me
Is screaming the brave roam free
So I'll cut myself
From all that I've done
All that I've done
I couldn't save you
Internally
I'll sell my soul for free
And I'll cut myself
From all that I've done
All that I've done
I wouldn't change it

Face this on your own
Never felt like caving
