

Running Out of Reasons to Run

Sawyer Brown

Wounded by love, I was too afraid to ever want to try again
So I started runnin' from every pretty woman who wanted to be my friend
But lately I've noticed I'm being shadowed by someone stayin' right on my heels
You're so persistent, you want to go the distance, I do believe I'm startin' to feel

I'm runnin' out of reasons to run
Runnin' out of reasons to run
Woke up with I love you on the tip of my tongue
Runnin' out of reasons to run

I woke up this mornin' totally amazed at the thoughts runnin' around in my head
I'm always gone at the crack of dawn and here I am still in bed
As my eyes open, my heart starts jumpin', I can't believe the thing that you've done
Could that big red heart you drew on the mirror be a shape of things to come

I'm runnin' out of reasons to run
Runnin' out of reasons
Runnin' out of reasons to run
Out of reasons

Woke up with I love you on the tip of my tongue
Runnin' out of reasons to run