

Through The Trees

SayWeCanFly

I guess now it's my turn to shoulder the blame
I've cornered myself now I can't run away
I've got nowhere to go, no more exits to take
If this is my life, I can't take one more day
But I'll wait one more day

Through the trees I see the sun
Revealing the option that I have become
And it changed me, it chains me down
Oh, how I miss you

When I bury myself with the choices I make
I know you try your best but I still find a way
To take beautiful moments and make them decay
To take everything good and make sure it don't stay
To make sure it don't stay

Through the trees I see the sun
Making me question, oh, what have I done
And it changed me, it chains me down
Oh, how I miss you

In the darkness, I'm too careful
Treading lightly on you
In the silence, that's when I know
I miss you
I miss you