

Forever

Scars on 45

Does anyone know how to mend a broken heart
To stop the aching in my chest
I've been driving in my knackered car
By your house and past the place our lips met

I know you never meant to bring me no pain
But how you brought it again and again
Now there's nothing more that you need to know
Except forever I'll be shouting

No, there's no way
That I will ever change for you
You made me go my own way
Now I'm over you, now I'm over you

Someone said the lightning couldn't strike me twice
And now I'm shaking from the shock
I thought I found the guy I tried to be
For years and years but I still feel so lost

I know you never meant to do me no harm
But how the tables have turned in my arms
Now there's nothing more that you need to know
Except forever I'll be shouting

No, there's no way
That I will ever change for you
You made me go my own way
Now I'm over you, now I'm over you

No, there's no way
That I will ever change for you
You made me go my own way
Now I'm over you, now I'm over you

Does anyone know how to mend a broken heart
To stop the aching in my chest
I've been driving in my knackered car
By your house and past the place our lips met