

I Will Be Here

Scars on 45

One day our lights fade
Can't bring myself to look away
Feel as empty as the space you left behind
You had to leave
Even though it's killing me
All the truth has hit me right between the eyes

Oh the space I give meant to set you free
Be the space that brings you back to me
All the scars that shaped our history
Be the fall from grace you need

When you clear your eyes
When you look inside
And the doubts disappear
I will be here
When you're standing strong
No matter how far you've gone
And you've fought every fear
I will be here
I will be here

Turn on the lights
Out front to guide you through the night
All your things are waiting right here with my heart

Oh the space I give meant to set you free
Be the space that brings you back to me
All the scars that shaped our history
Be the fall from grace you need

When you clear your eyes
When you look inside
And the doubts disappear
I will be here
When you're standing strong
No matter how far you've gone
And you've fought every fear
I will be here

And I won't ask what you're needing
Won't press all those feelings
Tell me when you're ready to talk
And no matter what the truth is
Fire from burning bridges
Light your way
Through the dark

When you clear your eyes
When you look inside
And the doubts disappear
I will be here
When you're standing strong
No matter how far you've gone
And you've fought every fear
I will be here
I will be here

I will be here
