

Broken pieces of rocks and stones
Leave me shattered and left me cold
Well, I could leave it
And don't ask why, it's so true

I can tell you old stories of broken homes
And times when my heart was so blue
I can share all my secrets that no one knows
I will tear down my walls just for you
I will tear down my walls just for you

Endless summers in golden fields
Broken branches and fallen leaves
Well, don't be silly and don't ask why
It's so true

I could tell you I don't know why
But there's answers in your green eyes
Can't offer much
But one thing I know I can do

I can tell you old stories of broken homes
And times when my heart was so blue
I can share all my secrets that no one knows
I will tear down my walls just for you
I will tear down my walls just for you
I will tear down my walls just for you

I can tell you old stories of broken homes
And times when my heart was so blue
I can share all my secrets that no one know
I will tear down my walls just for you
I will tear down my walls just for you
I will tear down my walls just for you
