Only a Game

Scars on 45

I'm waiting, still waiting
To see the truth in what you say
I'm falling, free falling
Through some nights and winter days
Your heart needs a fresh start in a new place that offers more
My mind is a fine line
Alone in a raging war

But I know, that you know
Together we stand devided we fall

I've given you more than I want
So take a little less than you need
Everything keeping me here
Is standing right beside of me
I've given you more than I want
By keeping this under my skin
I shouldn't play alone and let go
It's only a game if we win

Ooh
It's only a game if we win
Ooh
It's only a game if we win

You're waiting, still waiting
To turn your back on how you feel
I'm calling, cold calling
To save your failing memories
I've tried under dark skies to pull you out of raging storms
My life is a cold night
Only you can keep me warm
