

Read In-Between The Lines

Scars on 45

Ice swelled up, blood will boil
The hardest year can feel like swimming through oil
There's no use crying over spilled milk
I'll never be none the wiser, I'll be over the hill.

Do you know, you tore me up inside
I'll never show, I'll let you realize
Move forward and don't turn back.

We were broken; no one cared at all,
I won't lay down, let lonely nights fall.
Take your silence and shove it where the sun don't shine

Read in between the lines.

You can't hide from the truth too long
Then it hits you hard when you see that it's gone
I can wake myself and walk away from you
I've set my world in motion; now I've got nothing to lose.

And everyone knows you tore me up inside
But I'll never show, I'll let you realize
Move forward and don't turn back.

We were broken; no one cared at all,
I won't lay down, let lonely nights fall.
Take your silence and shove it where the sun don't shine
