

I thought we went together like
Chuck Taylor's and a white t-shirt
I thought we were forever like
The tattoo that I got when I met you
They said we were classic Coca Cola
Summer buzz-cuts, Casablanca
But everything ends 'cause you walked out the door
And the kids don't listen to rock and roll anymore

(Maya...)

My heart's been cut up before but
This one takes the cake
All them things you said to me
They don't mean a thing 'cause
You let your heart go and change with the weather
You count up your kills on your hat with the feather
Before we never speak again, you should know one thing

I thought we went together like
Chuck Taylor's and a white t-shirt
I thought we were forever like
The tattoo that I got when I met you
They said we were classic Coca Cola
Summer buzz-cuts, Casablanca
But everything ends 'cause you walked out the door
And the kids don't listen to rock and roll anymore

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah

Stupid me to think one day
That you'd come back to me again
When you threw out my '05 khaki shorts
Then again, no one's hitting play on a cassette tape
No one's shooting duck at the roller rink
And you, you wanna end it all here in this fucking superstore
Kids don't listen to rock and roll anymore

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah

I thought we went together like
Chuck Taylor's and a white t-shirt
I thought we were forever like
The tattoo that I got when I met you
They said we were classic Coca Cola
Summer buzz-cuts, Casablanca
But everything ends 'cause you walked out the door
And the kids don't listen to rock and roll anymore
