

Palace of Tears

Scott Matthew

In a palace of tears lived beyond all our fears
And the rain seemed to fall from the walls, through the floor
And the ones who can't tell, of the rain how it fell
And this once loving town had descended to hell
And i wish you could see
Though you may not believe
That good can overcome
And for you tears still fall like rain
But we're smiling again
We miss you the same
Though a lesson is learn't
My heart's tattered and torn
,cause i still feel your pain in the wall in the floor
And i wish you could see
Though you may not believe
That good can overcome
And for you tears still fall like rain
But we're loving again
