Two Strangers

Sea Wolf

Oh, how I saw you in the world
Young and free
As the young should be

And we, we saw everything through glass
Sapphire blue, colouring of you
And every, every cloud was silver and Even we liked, up in time

And it seems, seems you were unreal
you disappeared
Over the years

Oh,
I don't know
Even when I see you again
Though I try, Yes I try
To remember you as the kid I knew
And you seem, yes you seem, oh, like some stranger I met in a dream
And I don't want to know, whatever's seen about what you think of me

And how, how we drive out to the cliffs
To redwood trees and feel the ocean breeze
Where you, you threw confetti over the edge
Just to see bright colours over the sea
And then, then you'd have me sit and drink
And Watch the lights and left with you all night
And you, you were so filled with our tears
Never wrong
But I've been and gone too long

Oh,
I don't know
Even when I see you again
Though I try, Yes I try
To remember you as the kid I knew
And you seem, yes you seem, oh, like some stranger I met in a dream
And I don't want to know, whatever's seen

Brother, Oh
What have we, what have we become
Brother, Oh
What have we, what have we become
Brother, Oh
What have we, what have we become
Brother, Oh
What have we, what have we become

Oh,
I don't know
Even when I see you again
Though I try, Yes I try
To remember you as the kid I knew
But we seem, yes we seem, oh, like two strangers that met in a dream
And I don't want to know, whatever's seen
No I don't want to know, whatever's seen
No I don't want to know, whatever's seen about what we've come to be
