Stronger

Seabird

Well she sings her song with beautiful grace
She turns around and you see her face
But you can't move and you can't breathe
You just stand and dream of her

'Cause tonight, she is so much stronger than before
You cant ignore her tonight
And her eyes are shining like the moon
You gotta tell her soon

Sixteen years, they came and went
My head was strong and I couldn't be bent
But the only thing that would bring us home
Was the love we stole so long ago

'Cause tonight, she is so much stronger than before
You cant ignore her tonight
And her eyes are shining like the moon
You gotta tell her soon
And you've waited your life for this moment
She asked for your heart, now you've shown it

So hold, hold on to me
And run, run next to me yeah

'Cause tonight, she is so much stronger than before
You cant ignore her tonight
She is so much stronger, yeah
