

Wait

Seafret

I run to you
In early hours of the morning light
When the world outside my window's
Filled with fire burning bright

I run to you
'Cause no matter where I go or what I find Nothing ever quite compares
To how you make me feel alive

And I said I'd be there
Say you'll be there
Don't tell me that it's all too late

If I take too long will you
Still stand strong will you
Just move on if I lose my way?

Would you wait?
Would you wait?
Would you wait?
If I take too long?

Would you stay
In the same place?
Would you wait
Or forever run?

I run to you
Underneath a sky that's calling out a warning
All the trees around me burning
I just never saw the signs

I run to you
At the end while all the satellites are falling
I just need to tell you darling
While we both still have the time

And I said I'd be there
Say you'll be there
Don't tell me that it's all too late

If I take too long will you
Still stand strong will you
Just move on if I lose my way?

Would you wait?
Would you wait?
Would you wait?
If I take too long?

Would you stay
In the same place?
Would you wait
Or forever run?

The low's are just too deep

And the high's too steep
Sometimes my heart's too weak
To find the words to speak

But I said I'd be there
Say you'll be there
Don't tell me that it's all too late

If I take too long will you
Still stand strong will you
Just move on if I lose my way?

Would you wait?
Would you wait?
Would you wait?
If I take too long?

Would you stay
In the same place?
Would you wait
Or forever run?

Hmm, hmhhh
Hmm, hmm, hmm, hmm
