

Hold You

Searows

I used to feel it when I'd wake up
The thing you never had to name
I made a life I don't remember making
Couldn't just let it stay the same
We look much different in pictures
At least that's what most people say
I used to know the person I took after
I must've let them slip away

Cause I wanna know you again
And I wanna hold you like you needed then
And I wanna know all you know
So I can take what you can let go

I turn the pages with the seasons
And leave behind what I can't change
Until there's nothing left that I believe in I'll leave it just the way it came
I'll write enough that it can hold me
Until the feeling has a name
I wrote the ending but I missed the story
I must've been just out of frame

Cause I wanna know you again
And I wanna hold you like you needed then
And I wanna know all you know
So I can take what you can let go

Don't you wanna know me again
Don't you wanna know me
Know me again
Again
Again
Again
