

Alive

Seelennacht

When the days are lonely
And all hopes seem so far
When you're dying slowly
And your life is falling apart

Like a mother loves her child
Like a shield protecting your life
You should stand up, go and fight
Day and night

You're living this life alive
Don't wait for a special sign
You're living now and not sometime
Just focus on what is right
Don't wait for a special sign
You're living now and not sometime

When nothing seems interesting
And such a monotony kills your life
When all bridges are collapsing
When another sunny day just turns into night

Like a father loves his child
Like a shield protecting your life
You are standing by your side
So take this time