

To The Dance Floor For Shelter

SeeYouSpaceCowboy

On the pavement we'll lie, alone, we'll know one day
When the radio stops I know we'll all sing
Through the haze I still see you, in your eyes there's still one thin g
When the radio stops, I know we'll hear screaming

This fire started with the smallest spark
We'll fall apart, to the dance floor for shelter
This pose of passion to ignite the start, as hopes depart, it's never-ending

Our heels all tap, we're ready to go, let's see it through
The flames, they look so pretty, burning higher
Well okay, all right, we'll feed the fire, don't save us
To feel the heat sometimes
I'd give anything

Escape from the cold, warm yourself in the heat of the moment
Till the roof blows off
No more moving in a dream
There's an amber glow
If only you had the strength to open up your eyes

This fire started with the smallest spark
We'll fall apart, to the dance floor for shelter
This pose of passion to ignite the start, as hopes depart, it's never-
ending
It's never ending, never end

So scream out, swing to the beat and cast out the smiles of malice
Cling to your substance, don't let them rob you of rhythm
This is the hope draped around the image of solace
This is the movement, don't let them
Don't let them, ever stop you

We watch as the candelabra falls
Ashes start to surround us

Dance with me, spinning in our dismay
Que sera, locked into step with the blaze
Fanning the flames that give us comfort tonight
Through the haze I still see you
In your eyes, there's a glow
Reflecting the city we know

Self combust and let our bodies be turned to dust
And with our final breath we seal this statement
What a shame that this story came to such a tragedy in the end
One for the ages
Two burnt to ashes
In the end