

Let Go

Self Deception

Take a breath, think a little bit harder
You made this mess, don't try to be a martyr
You ripped my heart right out my chest when you packed your shit and left
Things could have been the same unless you hadn't packed your shit and left

You don't get to love me again, you don't even get to call me your friend
You don't get to love me again, know I didn't give a shit back when I let you go
I hope you lay awake night alone, Thinking 'why did I ever say goodbye?'

Take a breath, think a little bit harder
You made this mess, should of been a little smarter
Do you still think about that ring and waking up right next to me?
You even have my name in ink, am I reason that you drink?

You don't get to love me again, you don't even get to call me your friend
You don't get to love me again, know I didn't give a shit back when I let you go
I hope you lay awake night alone, Thinking 'why did I ever say goodbye?'

I guess that you forgot the promise we made
That we would never let things ever get this way
But at the end of the day I think to my self
I'm better off in the arms of somebody else
I guess that you forgot the promise we made
That we would never let things ever get this way
But at the end of the day I think to my self
I'm better off in the arms of somebody else

You don't get to love me again, you don't even get to call me your friend
You don't get to love me again, know I didn't give a shit back when I let you go
You don't get to love me again, you don't even get to call me your friend
You don't get to love me again, know I didn't give a shit back when I let you go
I hope you lay awake night alone, thinking 'why did I ever say goodbye?'

Alone, Alone, Thinking 'why did I ever say goodbye? '