

These Walls

Self Deception

So addicted to the poison that I love
I go hell knows where for days
Never could I scrape the mirror enough
Cause what is my body worth anyway?

I even go to war with my mind
Unafraid of what I might find
I unlock my inner most dark thoughts
Ooh if only these walls could talk
If only these walls could talk

(The ground shakes around me
My weakness has found me
The line on the mirror
Won't make me clearer)

I know the drink won't help me think
When the world is crashing down on me
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill
Sitting here alone as I waste away
In a place where I self destruct for days
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill

Two bloodshot eyes pulse so high
It's the way it makes me feel alive
It's by God damn time that I'd walk away
If only these walls could talk
If only these walls could talk

I know the drink won't help me think
When the world is crashing down on me
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill
Sitting here alone as I waste away
In a place where I self destruct for days
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill

If only these walls could talk. I know the drink won't help me think
When the world is crashing down on me
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill
Sitting here alone as I waste away
In a place where I self destruct for days
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill
I know the drink won't help me think
When the world is crashing down on me
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill
Sitting here alone as I waste away
In a place where I self destruct for days
Another fight, another pill, another sleepless night to kill