

I just wanna let you know there's a point in you
And I know you find it harder than your peers do
But you got it like that
If you need it like that
Put it all on my back, I'll carry it
For whatever you choose
There'll always be me waiting up for you
'Cause look, we made it this far
Might as well carry on
Don't have to stick to a plan
Just living

Got it on my mind just like you said
Breathe in for three, four, five
Never needed much, but without sound
I can't get to sleep at night
Can't be alone, can't stop seeking it
Can't quit it and that's my weakness
Tell me I'll be fine but roll your eyes
I try to delegate
That's a next-year problem
I'll solve it when I have a sense of space
Can't let you close, there's nothing to see
My only hope is what's left in me

I just want to let you know there's a point in you
And I know you find it harder than your peers do
But you got it like that
If you need it like that
Put it all on my back, I'll carry it
For whatever you choose
There'll always be me waiting up for you
'Cause look we made it this far
Might as well carry on
Don't have to stick to a plan
Just living

My stomach and my heart never align
Wish they'd communicate
Every single morning, look in the mirror
And think, 'Ugh, you again'
It's not healthy to talk this way to me
So I'm gonna try saying

I just want to let you know there's a point in you
And I know you find it harder than your peers do
But you got it like that
If you need it like that
Put it all on my back, I'll carry it
For whatever you choose
There'll always be me waiting up for you
'Cause look, we made it this far
Might as well carry on
Don't have to stick to a plan
Just living

Um, the thing is just gotta keep going, I suppose

Remember that it all ends mid-paragraph
Like the bottom of the mountain is when you were born
And the top of the mountain is when you die, so
You're just constantly going up it

I just want to let you know there's a point in you (There's a point in you)
And I know you find it harder than your peers do (Than your peers do)
But you got it like that
If you need it like that
Put it all on my back
I'll carry it
For whatever you choose (Whatever you choose)
There'll always be me waiting up for you (Up for you)
'Cause look, we made it this far
Might as well carry on
Don't have to stick to a plan
Just living

There's a point in you
Than your peers do
Whatever you choose
Up for you
