Mists over the Future

Semblant

Nightfall's over the surface of the earth.
The sun fades out, and life found its new way through darkness
We spread lots of seeds of extinction
Species come and go, flesh is nothing to the universe

Carnivorous birds flying over a rotten civilization
Glorious palaces and builds of men falling in ruins more and mo

Daylight dies – humanity reach the end below bloodred skies

Unlimited fear, demonic metamorphosis
Nature begins a new obscure cycle
Lupine spirit of the unrational instinct
Kill to survive, feed of those who are weak

And then there was silence, no manifestations all around
Theres no witness to describe a new beginning

All hope is gone, all prediction is done
The truth behind all the prophecies finally comes
Last ashes to ashes, last dust to dust
Species come and go, flesh is nothing to the universe

And then there was silince, no manifestations all around
Theres no witness to describe a new beginning

Daylight dies – humanity reach the end below bloodred
