

Feed the Fire

Seraphim

An eternity spent
Defying law and order
Hardened hearts arrayed to kill
And as the day stretched on to infinity
The violent souls will hold the locks and throw away their keys
How much longer will they wait
How much longer will they wait
The earth itself has collapsed in ruin
And all the mountains are stripped away
The islands flee and the ocean is barren
All from those who chose to disobey
I can't flee from anywhere but here
Terror and fear will force me to disappear
You've taken everything they held for granted
And i never took the mark despite their ranting
As you march to your death
The end draws closer
With nothing left you feed the fire
Doubt consumes your soul
It pulls you under
With every breath you feed the fire
Bow in terror as the sky is split
You see the stars depart and melt away

This battle isn't one you can win
You had the chance to relent
You've proven your decent
And now your place is cemented
Why should you regret it now?
As your march to your death
The end draws closer
With nothing left you feed the fire
Doubt consumes your soul
It pulls you under
With every breath you feed the fire
Lift your eyes and see clearly
Your end is by my grand design
The pride you felt at your betrayal
Has come back to haunt you
As you march to your death
The end draws closer
With nothing left you feed the fire
Doubt consumes your soul
It pulls you under
With every breath you feed the fire
As you march to your death
The end draws closer
With nothing left you feed the fire
Doubt consumes your soul
It pulls you under
With every breath you feed the fire