

Wormwood

Seraphim

And the sky will fall as it blackens above them
A bitter gate thrown wide
Falling, falling the wrath of the righteous
For hail and fire will you surrender?
Your false gods have failed you
Faces of stone and eyes made of iron
Mouths made silent by celestial disaster
Cower in fear as the heaven melt away
Fall to the horizon
Drawing closer and closer
Bitterness cascades to the fallen nations
The earth will burn and the land enflame
Calamity won't bring the transformation
Further proves the hearts of man are depraved
The hearts of man are depraved
Lost hopes of the damned won't save you now
This fire burns by the scorn of the wicked
Consuming all by the heat of the blaze

The sun and moon grew dark as the stars collapse and fall to the ground
The stars collapse and fall to the ground
You slake your thirst from the source of the poison
While fear forces you to drink
Force it down
I'll drown my desperation in poison
You can wretch out the bile
But you've already sealed your fate
Bitterness cascades to the fallen nations
The earth will burn and the land enflame
Calamity won't bring the transformation
Further proves the hearts of man are depraved
Bitterness cascades to the fallen nations
The earth will burn and the land enflame
Calamity won't bring the transformation
Further proves the hearts of man are depraved