

Reduced to Nothingness

Serenity

I've just found my Tanelorn My task is done, my quest complete
But some things seem strange, unreal Dearest wish and clearest vision Form the sea I navigate I shun the cliffs of consciousness

In the deep where fire leaps up to become the shape of all that you fear Know the gate to glorious fates never seen in this life. So I fall...

...in other worlds on deeper plains I'm coming through again Forlorn in the never When I rise (to awake) And regain consciousness Then all is reduced to nothingness

There are times I can't believe I crossed the line because I see These dreams of despair they are real

In the deep where fire leaps up to become the shape of all that you fear Know the gate to glorious fates never seen in this life. So I fall...

...in other worlds on deeper plains I'm coming through again Forlorn in the never When I rise (to awake) And regain consciousness Then all is reduced to nothingness

Caught in the gravity of the non-dreaming world I suffer from the incapacity to create a future that never was Someone in the multiverse is dreaming your reality Imagine he could be the one who lives your dreams. Connecting, interacting on the field of possibilities Figments of the mind behold divinity.

So I fall, unknown fates I see again
