

The End of Babylon

Serenity

The streets where we have failed
A place where sins were born
An angel came to earth
The end of Babylon

Living on the edge
In a world we're forced to pray
To score our hearts and our minds in separate ways
We're living the lust we will face our death
Just carrying bout ourselves
In a world that got so grey
We cheat our hearts and our minds in separate ways of life
We will face the end

The streets where we have failed
A place where sins were born
An angel came to earth
The end of Babylon
With all the blood and pain
A place that we called home
A legend found its death
In the end of Babylon

Tearing down the walls
Of a place we're meant to stay
To save our souls and to praise another day
We're falling apart we are falling down

The streets where we have failed
A place where sins were born
An angel came to earth
The end of Babylon
With all the blood and pain
A place that we called home
A legend found its death
In the end of Babylon

The streets where we have failed
A place where sins were born
An angel came to earth
The end of Babylon
With all the blood and pain
A place that we called home
A legend found its death
In the end of Babylon
