

Mirror

Serhat Durmus

Living in a crazy world
Following the path that always twists and turns
Gave up on your sanity to hide behind the devil
'Cause you think you'll live forever

Say you're never getting old
Out there thinking that you're in the world alone
No one ever told you that you have to live for something
Or in the end you will be nothing

It's too cold, standing in the middle of the downpour
Looking in the mirror 'cause it's only you
That you have to lose

Headed backward on a one way
Tryin' to stop from running but you can't wait
Buried all the evidence you'll only learn
When you crash and burn

It's too cold, standing in the middle of the downpour
Looking in the mirror 'cause it's only you
That you have to lose

Headed backward on a one way
Tryin' to stop from running but you can't wait
Buried all the evidence you'll only learn
When you're in the end, you will be nothing