

Redemption

Seven Thorns

As i wander around feeling restless at heart every sight shows a world in decline.
I am searching for ways to escape the despair.
If this place does exist, tell me --- where?

I could feel the treachery and decay
disappear as I went on my way Reaching higher, there's no limit to the wonders I see.

Free your spirit and climb to the towers so high where the Fortress of Redemption lies.
Feel a presence of mind
and embrace the divine.
At the top of the world I'm alive.

Felt a new breath of air.
Felt a lack of despair.
What's the source of this freedom of mine?
In the distant I saw mountain ranges in snow.
To the hills is the place i must go.

I could feel the treachery and decay
disappear as I went on my way
Reaching higher, there's no limit to the
wonders I see.

At the top of the world we belong --- we belong!
