Seventh Day Slumber

This may get uncomfortable
There's a truth that lives inside us all

We throw our words like grenades
It don't matter who's in our way
Wrap our hands around your pain
We don't care who we bend or break

We're sinking deeper every shot we take

We're living for the drama, the pain
The stress, the tragedy
No time for the lost ones who wait
The broken, fragile things
We're living for the drama
Just in it for the drama

This is all so maddening
We dress our souls like wolves among the sheep

We leave a wake of broken hearts
Like a sea of battle scars
When we fall we pull you down
Till we're all just rocks at the bottom

We're sinking faster every smile we fake

We're living for the drama, the pain
The stress, the tragedy
No time for the lost ones who wait
The broken, fragile things
We're living for the drama
Just in it for the drama
We're in it for the drama
Just in it for the drama

We're living for the drama, the pain
The stress, the tragedy
No time for the lost ones who wait
The broken, fragile things
We're living for the drama, the pain
The stress, the tragedy
No time for the lost ones who wait
The broken, fragile things
We're living for the drama
Just in it for the drama
We're in it for the drama
Just in it for the drama
