

It Will Never Mend

Sezairi

Nobody's perfect
And I've been in the blame
For all the things I did or did not do

Been trying to mend my ways
I get withdrawals from the change
Guess I'm not used to living my life without you
When you make mistakes, you've gotta shoulder the blame

And every time I think the water's blue
I put my feet in
But its cold and grey
There's no way that I can't feel warm

And every time I start to think of you
I stop myself, cause it hurts
There's no words to describe this pain
This heartbreak never ends
It will never mend

Nobody's listening
It's all part of the game
The way we push and pull
We fight till there's no end

Been trying to change your pace
Love isn't always just a race
Nobody wins or loses, there's no second place
When you make mistakes, you've gotta shoulder the blame

And every time I think the water's blue
I put my feet in
But its cold and grey
There's no way that I can't feel warm

And every time I start to think of you
I stop myself, cause it hurts
There's no words to describe
This pain
This heartbreak never ends
It will never mend, no

You will never be perfect no matter
And I can't always be blamed
But when the sorry's just don't work
I don't wanna' hurt, anymore

And every time I think the water's blue
I put my feet in
But its cold and grey
There's no way that I can't feel warm

And every time I start to think of you
I stop myself, cause it hurts
There's no words
It will never mend
It will never mend, no